Number 16

Ives To Appear Nov. 29

Burl Ives, rollicking and jovial troubadour of American ballads and folk songs, will be on the stage of the Knight Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday evening, Nov. 29, as the second number on this season's lyceum.

Appearance of Mr. Ives will represent the second top-notch artist this year brought to Waverly and the surrounding area by the Wartburg College Artist Series committee. Dr. A. W. H. Smith, professor of chemistry at Wartburg, is chairman of the committee.

"For the time of your lives, hear Burl Ives," say the posters announcing his concert here, and his past success as a star of stock radio recordings and the theatre is not enough of the wide popularity of America's top folk song singer."

Personality Appeal.

From a small and unpretentious town, Ives has brought Ives his recent success. Driven by a musical ear and a sensitive heart, he has traveled to remote spots all over the United States and Canada to commit to memory some three hundred ballads which have grown out of the hearts of American settlers. Many of these American folk songs as sung by Burl Ives have found a place in the repertoire of the Library of Congress.

Burl Ives found his first success in New York, where, in 1944, he starred in the Theatre Guild's "Song of the South." Critics hailed him as the season's most outstanding theatrical discovery, and soon Broadway was humming the old songs which had been his simple plain folk for a century or more.

Drawn To Hollywood.

From Broadway, Ives was drawn to Hollywood, where he played first in "Song of the South" and then in "Green Grass of Wyoming." His greatest movie to date was the 1946 Disney's "Song to Remember." Since then he has records for attendance at his premier in Indianapolis, Ind., and his play to capacity houses from coast to coast.

He will open his concert of ballads and folk songs on Nov. 29 with "Little Moth" followed by "Till I Met You," "Edgar," "Edward." Next will come "When I Was Single" along with "I Know Where I'm Going" and "Bonnie and Clyde." Songs originally from the old west will fill the second group, beginning with "Cowboy's Lament" also included will be "Tumble Down," "Rockin' Song," "The Wee Cooper O'Fife" and "The Wandering of Old Angus."

Darin' Corp. Next.

After intermission, Ives will continue with "Darin' Corp.," "Nightingale Song" and "Brennan on the Moor." Following this will be "The Ballad of the Lonesome Traveler," "Weird That I Went in Dallas," "Do You Know My Daddy" and "Colorado Trail." In closing his concert he will sing "Golden Vanity" and "Mr. Froggle."

Burl Ives' first New York Town Hall recital on the stage will be to accommodate the cross country tour during 1948 and 1949, his notices carried in "The New York Times" as "enthusiastic audiences," "magicked his audience" and "unprecedented success."

Progress In Better Living' Title Of Monday Talk By Peterson

"Progress in Better Living" is the title of the address to be given by Vernon S. Peterson, midwest district manager of the Du Pont company's extension division, next Monday evening, Nov. 29, at 7:45 p.m. in the Little Theater.

Mr. Peterson will speak to Wartburg under the auspices of the Science club on campus.

As many as 40 high schools in the surrounding area have been invited to the demonstration and discussion, according to Mervin Gleiter, Science club president Native of Midwest.

As a native midwest warmer, he has been acquainted with the growth of the area, Mr. Peterson says. "There is progress only as long as it is the way and will of the people to create conditions that make it possible."

He not only will show some of the newest developments in chemical research but will also discuss what these processes are and how they get out of the test tubes and into the hands of the public as useful products. He will also speak on the progress and growth of well-known items as nylon and cellulose and how new things from the industry contribute to a better way of living.

Mr. Peterson's experience with farming, however many years, and his knowledge of agriculture, are assets.

He is an expert on farm building construction and on the operation and maintenance of farm equipment.

He also has extensive experience in the fields of water supply, electrification, soft and water conservation, land clearing and construction.

The speaker, who now lives at Ames, is a native of Kansas and was reared on a farm in that state.

V. S. PETERSON

is a graduate of Kansas State college. Prior to joining Du Pont he served as agricultural extension engineer in Iowa and Lincoln, Nebraska.

He is an engineer in the forest products division of the Iowa State Forest Service CCC camps and as state administrator of soil conservation in Indiana.

Wartburg students last Tuesday chose the seven most outstanding seniors to represent their college in the annual Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Emerging victorious from among some forty names on the ballot were Jim Keller, 21, Jamestown, N. D.; Omar Bonderud, 21, Carrington, N. D.; Ruth Engelbrecht, 21, Mendota, Ill.; George Roleder, 21, Lodi, Calif.; Stan Wignes, 21, Northwood; Ray Meier, 23, Eaton, Col.; and Ken Krueger, 22, Milwaukee, Wis.

Keller is a pre-theological student with an English major. Besides his job as student body president, he is currently a member of Chi Eho, "W" club, and will probably be one of the mainstays on the Knight basketball team. His past activities include the 1948 Homecoming chairmanship, Student Senate and chairmanship of the electricals committee. He also participated in track and tennis during the past years.

Student Vice-President.
Bonderud, also a pre-theological student with an English major, is vice-president of the student body this year. He previously served as a member and editor of the TRUMPET during his sophomore and junior years. He was elected president the local chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, international organization of journalism, in 1947. He is also active in Chi Eho and World Affairs Forum. Participating in the 1948 Homecoming, he is currently a member of the literature committee of the International Luther League.

Engelbrecht is a history major taking a four-year teacher course. She was Homecoming queen in 1948, the same year she graduated from Wartburg. She studied during her sophomore year at the University of Hawaii, where she studied during her sophomore year. She has been active in Wartburg choir, Wartburg players, Student Senate and currently a member of the Lambda Mu cast of Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary dramatics organization. She was a member of Peep club and was secretary of the faculty-student activities committee.

Student Player.
Roleder, another pre-theological major in English, is president of Wartburg Players and a pledge to both honorary fraternities on campus, Alpha Phi Omega and Kappa Delta. He was manager of the TRUMPET in 1947, wrote his own column for the paper last year and is writing feature stories this year. In the past he was president of the sophomore class, vice-president of Music Appreciation club and secretary of Phi Beta Kappa. Other activities include track, band and a cappella choir.

Wignes, a senior, neither pre-theological major in English, is president of Wartburg Players and a pledge to both honorary fraternities on campus, Alpha Phi Omega and Kappa Delta. He was manager of the football team for this year's Homecoming tilt, and is a member of the "W" club and Kappa Delta Kappa. He was elected to Student Council in 1948 and to the Phi Beta Kappa.

Meier.
Meier is also taking a four-year teacher course with a major in physical education. He lettered in both football and wrestling, and is secretary of the "W" club this year. He is a member of Kappa Delta Kappa. He also participates in Wartburg Players and Wartburg choir. He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega and the Phi Beta Kappa.

His activities include Mens Sack, Veritas, of which he was secretary, two years on the football activities committee and the football team.

Krueger is a fourth pre-theological major in English. He is a member of the Artist Series committee and the Alpha Phi Omega.

He was president of the Artist Series committee in 1948 and vice-president of Chi Eho. He was president of the Music Appreciation club last year and vice-president of Wartburg choir.

Thanksgiving Goes To God

We say "thank you!" so often that perhaps we lose sight of the real meaning and proper use of the expression. One of the first things our parents taught us was to express our thanks whenever we were favored in the slightest way.

Now is our saying "thank you!" a custom that is peculiar to this country of this age. From the beginning of time persons have deemed it necessary to express their gratitude for kindnesses extended to them. Courtesy and politeness, of which "thank you!" is such a very essential part, are recognized and cultivated as some of the major virtues of humanity today.

We say "thank you!" for so many little things—for the opening of a door, for a handful of change, for a good time on a date, for helping with a coat and for a multitude of other little favors that are common in our relations with people every day. It is our rule of etiquette that every kindness deserves a "thank you!"

But too often we fail to give our thanks to those who deserve it most of all. So often we neglect to give our thanks to God. We go on, day after day, accepting with greed His protection and sustenance as the fruits of our own labor. Instead of being thankful for what He has given us, we gripe and complain because we do not have enough to quench our insatiable desires.

We fail to thank God for giving each minute for us. His creation. We forget to thank Him for keeping the stars in the courses, controlling the tides of the sea, for bringing rain and sunshine and warmth and for giving us that which sustains us in the capacity to grow. We forget to thank God for the spiritual force that promises us life everlasting.

Thanksgiving day is close at hand. It is a day set aside for a great "thank you!" to be raised to the God who supplies all our needs. Let us not confine our "thank you!" to the kindnesses offered by our fellow men. Thanksgiving is a day to forget ourselves and remember God "from Whom all blessings flow."

Burnt Offering To Hate

Just about three weeks ago, a small southern military college was rescued from the depths of poverty by a $50 million gift from one of the country's richest oil magnates. The story as such sounds like a tall tale of dedication to progress and education, until we look behind the scenes.

The generous donor, it appears, is George W. Armstrong, one of America's most violent supporters of anti-Semitism and a sympathetic member of the Ku Klux Klan. He had one string attached—that the student body and faculty of Jefferson Academy should be composed of white Christian Anglo-Saxons, and that the doctrine of white supremacy should be taught.

Mr. Armstrong is probably one of the most vicious attempts of modern times to use wealth to peddle un-American doctrines. Had the college accepted the donation whole, under the weight of anti-Semitic backwash, it would have been forced to do so. The first flew in our history, in violation of high ideals, which not only practiced discrimination, but actually taught bigotry and Hitlerian doctrine," says George Seelig, editor of "The Star."

It is a sorry reflection upon the American press that, although almost every national paper accorded the original story at least a two-column lead, not one of them cared or dared to bring to light Armstrong's backwash and his former associations. It is even a sadder reflection upon the press that it did not do so much as to much as consider accepting a gift of the nature of Armstrong's.

Fortunately, such inane bigots and hate-mongers are few, and the press soon learned that it was not good business to print stories about Americans in all but contempt. Still, press value of most Americans is in all but contempt, and the glorification of prejudice and narrow-mindedness which makes "hate-offering" such as Armstrong's possible.

Perhaps the military action can teach us a lesson about discrimination and the time it was intended to teach. Perhaps it can teach us how prejudice can get hold of a personality so completely that it forgets its great human heritage and becomes educated in hate. We should note that Armstrong sponsored a "wide CHRISTIAN" education, but that it is not so powerful a force that it can ever even reflect until it becomes the own antidote to its evil, negative desire to annihilate.

Prejudice, racial, religious or political, ultimately stems from a feeling of inferiority. Whenever and wherever we cannot live up to a person or a group, we are tempted to establish superiority by trampling down that person or group. But if we remember that we are Americans, that we are the greatest group of people in the world, we should realize that we don't have to feel inferior to anyone. We have our strong points, other than our faults. The world would be a better and certainly a more peaceful place to live in if we could only learn to live side by side with others.

Busiest Social Life Yet'

LeSourd Kept Occupied

By Marion Schmitz

"Social life here is the busiest I've hit so far," commented David A. LeSourd, new instructor in economics.

In fact, clubs, bridge, church work and football games have been keeping the LeSourds so busy that they haven't had time to explore the environs of Waverly yet, although they have been here since the first of September.

The sandy-haired instructor is the son of a Methodist minister and a native of Leonia, N. J., a suburb of New York City. Although he misses the splendid shopping opportunities of the big city and the hilly landscape, his finds living conditions here more pleasant.

"City? Yes, today."

"The city is too noisy and crowded," he explained in his distinct, precise way. "I always had to commute to school, too, which was a bother."

Most of LeSourd's life has been spent attending school. Before the four and a half years he spent in the army, he attended Drew University, a Methodist institution in New Jersey. After his army service (I reached the eminent height of PFC), he says he was graduated from New York university. He received his M.A. this spring from the University of Wisconsin.

As an economist, LeSourd is especially interested in labor relations. "Unions Here To Stay."

"Although the subject is a complex one," he stated, "I think the most important fact concerning labor is that the unions are here to stay. They will have to make to make a place for themselves."

In leisure time LeSourd likes to do amateur photography working in the Methodist church and the Wartburg College. He has his Thanksgiving project waiting for him—a chest of drawers which he will refurbish. "I'm enjoying teaching," he concluded. "There is a nice bunch to work with here."

Cagers 'Get Works' For Hawks

By Norm Findei

Knight cagers are "getting the works" on the Wartburg varsity squad as Coach "Ax" Bandgaard is toughening drills in anticipation of the pre-season exhibition game with the Waterloo Hawks next Tuesday night, Nov. 22.

With both the "A" and "B" squads in action every day, about forty-five men are making that once-for-a-dream playing in one's own home town a reality. The Knights, however, as players alike, have to put up with the handicap of not having a home field.

Squash Bell Also.

In addition to the varsity, Coaches Earle Opperman and Stan Wigens are drilling 30 "H" squad cagers. The junior varsity also is in its second month of freshman and sophomores, a plan which is new to Wartburg, but which should bear fruit in years to come.

As usual at the beginning of the year, the dreams of the prospects for the future float through the mind—"undefeated season? conference champs?" or maybe just "a good year."

With nine returning lettermen, Uett, Spier, Olson, Steinbauer, Kelle and Bruns, the last five of whom finished the season as regular letter winners, optimism and one feels almost justified in crowning out on the line and saying, "We're in for a good season."

"Ax" To Cut Arms.

Coach Bandgaard, at present, plans to maintain a 16-man squad until after the opening of the season. He will then reduce the squad to 12, when the team will be pure for traveling.

Another encouraging note—the trying out for the team gave a chance to try out between the football and wrestling season because quite fortunately (especially with the Hawks game coming) Coach Bandgaard has been most pessimistic about the spring's outcome that Coach "Nellie" is.

"Follow the Knights" will be the tag line for the year as "Ole" Olson, Stan Wigens, Paul Bruns, Jim Kelle, Lloyd (Spitz) Spier and "Lefty" Fritz Steinbauer are back to help better the last year's record.

Athlete-Of-Week Goes To Rowway For Parsons Game

This week's Athlete-of-the-Week honors went to Richard (Bud) Rowway, 18-year-old right halfback on the Wartburg offensive position.

"Bud" was chosen because of his spirited play during this year's gridiron season and for his excellent performance in the Knights' last conference game with the Parsons Wildcats from Farfield. In this game he showed his great plugging ability, but he is to be commended as a player who received a green pass from Wigens and raced 75 yards for a touchdown.

Rowway started the season at the inside position but was shifted by Coach Nelson to the right halfback spot. He has been one of the Knights' most prominent ground gainers this year. In 83 games he has netted 344 yards for an average of almost four and one-half yards a play.

Richard John Berndt Knutson is a graduate of Waverly high school. He plans to be a coach after graduating from Wartburg with a major in physical education about four years from now.

Curtain Draws Together On 1949 Grid Season

By Bill Boyken

Curtain drew together last Friday on the 1949 Wartburg football season, with the Knights holding down fifth place in the Iowa conference standings and a five-and-four record for the year.

Simpson Redmen held the roost of the league with a 6-0 record and were followed closely by Dubuque, Central, Upper Iowa and Wartburg, all sporting a better than .500 record.

Knights outscored their opponents 163-131 in the nine games of the season and gained twice as many yards on the ground. Wartburg runners gained a total of 2,183 yards, while the defensive unit of Coach "Nellie" Nelson's charges held their foes to 1,012 yards.

At the weak point of the Knights' defense was the line, as the week point of the Redmen's offense was 43 completed passes of Wartburg opponents hit for a total of 300 yards and nine touchdowns.

Paul Bruns, halfback from Marion City, led the Knight ground gainers in net yards gained rushing and total points. Bruns had 1,000 yards in 14 tries and crossed the goal line eight times for a total of 48 points.

Wanta Cleon Bruns was Wartburg's leading receiver.

Big Fozie carried the ball 117 times for 554 yards, to roll up 42 points by virtue of seven touchdowns.

Coach Nelson of Wartburg was not able to be present as 344 yards in 55 attempts and 12 points.

Big Fozie for the Knights was Gertieback, Stan Wigens of Northwood, who hit his receiver 23 times out of 62 tries for a net average of 40 per cent. The 23 passes were converted into 12 touchdowns.

Boys completed 11 passes during the League games at Wartburg, completed five passes out of 13 for a total of 17 yards and one touchdown. Playing in only that one game, the Knights had 75 yards in 11 attempts for a flashy 6.82 average.
